Introduction

Intermediate Vocabulary is for students who already have a reasonable command of the basic structures of English and who now wish to expand their vocabulary. It can be used both in the classroom and at home. It gives invaluable assistance to students preparing for English examinations.

To the student

Intermediate Vocabulary presents new words from a wide variety of topic and language areas. Varied and enjoyable exercises, such as gap filling and word building, guide students in using the new words.

Learners studying on their own should avoid simply going through the book 'filling in the blanks'. Exercises should be done at intervals as a supplement to other materials, and students should give themselves time to practise and use what they have learnt before going on to learn more. It is not enough simply to complete the exercises and understand the new words encountered. Learners must actually use the words in conversation, composition or letters before they can feel that these words are truly a part of their active vocabulary. Although it is chiefly aimed at the intermediate student, advanced students will find this book useful to test and practise their vocabulary, as well as to fill in any gaps in their knowledge.

To the teacher

Intermediate Vocabulary is divided into different sections, each comprising a wide variety of exercises in which target words are contextualised. Dictionary Practice is provided in the first section. Topics and Mini Topics contain words and phrases in topic areas, such as sport or education, and include items useful for students writing about or discussing a particular topic. The fourth and fifth sections, Related Word Groups and Word Building, introduce new words and practise skills such as deducing meaning, word building and word transformation. The sixth section, Specialised Vocabulary, is intended for more advanced students, as an introduction to areas of language outside those they will have encountered so far in their studies. These include formal words, slang, popular language, words used in newspaper headlines, abbreviations, classified advertisements, shortened words and American words. There is also a section on the British Isles. The section, Problem Pairs is intended as a reference section to be turned to as and when problems arise with a particular pair of words. Word Games provides practice in spelling and vocabulary through a variety of interesting games and puzzles.

Information 'boxes' are found throughout the book, providing interesting facts about words and their meanings.

Intermediate Vocabulary can be used in a variety of ways. Exercises can be done as pair or group activities in class, leading to a discussion, writing activity or other creative task. Alternatively, exercises can be done as homework, with the aid of the key and a dictionary, in preparation for a class discussion or work on a specific area of language. The book can also be used for revision and consolidation work.

Dictionary Practice

What do you want from a dictionary? And how good is yours? Below is a list of things you find out in dictionaries. In column A, next to each item first put a number from 1 to 10 according to how important it is to you . 1 = most important; 10 = least important. Then look at your dictionary and see whether all these items can be found in it. In column B, write a number from 1 to 10 according to how good you think your dictionary is. 1 = very good; 10 = poor.

ORIGINS OF SURNAMES

The most common British surname, Smith, means 'blacksmith', 'metal-worker. Jones means 'son of John', so does Johnson (and Williams means 'son of William'). 'Mac' or 'Mc' at the beginning of many Scottish names means 'son of', e.g. MacDonald. Similarly, 'O' at the beginning of some Irish names means 'descendant of', e.g. O'Brian. Many names were originally based on a person's appearance, e.g. Short, Brown, Black, Strong, and many on occupation, e.g. Wright (craftsman), Taylor (tailor), Carpenter, Stuart (steward), Mason.

METAPHORS AND SIMILES

We use these figures of speech not only in literary language but also in everyday speech. A metaphor is when we describe something as something else and we do not expect our words to be taken literally. e.g. 'He has a heart of stone'. (His heart isn't really made of stone).

I'll make you eat your words.
I'm dying for a cigarette.

He's a monster. It was a real nightmare.

A simile is when we compare two things.

He's as strong as a bull. This room is like a pig-sty. She can run like the wind. It was as hot as hell.

CATCH-PHRASES

Catch-phrases are expressions which become popular after being used in politics, advertising or television. Some are fashionable for a short time, others remain permanently in the language.

You only live once.
Back to basics.
Give peace a chance.
Here today, gone tomorrow.
If you can't beat them, join them.
If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen.

Slang and Colloquial Words

Slang

1 Slang is vocabulary which is used in very informal spoken language but not considered good in formal 'correct' English. For example a slang word for 'thank you' is 'ta' and a slang word for 'mad' is 'nuts'.

The slang words in the sentences below are printed in italics. Replace each slang word with a word or phrase from the following list.

made friend television policeman discarded nuisance pound(s) cigarettes alcohol prison without money

- (a) He smokes 30 fags a day. Too many!
- (b) He drinks a lot. He must spend twenty quid a week on booze.
- (c) He thought his meal was overcooked. When the waiter brought his bill he kicked up a fuss and would not pay.
- (d) I lost £500 at a casino last night. I'm absolutely skint.
- (e) My mate stole a car. Now he's in the nick.
- (f) She got bored with her boyfriend and ditched him.
- (g) There's a good film on the telly tonight, but I've got to go out. What a drag!
- (h) I wouldn't like to be a copper directing traffic in the street in this bad weather.

Colloquial words

2 Colloquial words are words which are quite acceptable in spoken English but not in written English (except in informal letters to friends etc.). For example we might say, 'He's a nice chap,' but we would probably write, 'He is a pleasant man.' (The line between slang and colloquial words is not at all clear and many words considered colloquial by some people would be considered slang by others.)

The colloquial words in the sentences below are printed in italics. Replace each colloquial word with a word or phrase from the following list.

drunk	very good	child	toilet	short sleep
bicycle	joking	dismiss	without money	upper class
possessions	newspaper

- (a) Her boss said he would sack her if she was late again.
- (b) There's a brilliant film on at the pictures this week.

Newspaper Headlines

Vocabulary

1 Certain words are found in newspaper headlines sometimes with a different meaning from that of their normal use. For each of the following 'headline words' on the left, find an item on the right with the same meaning (it will help you if you look at the headlines in exercise 2 below).

	J (	. ,	•
(a)	AXE		fire
(b)	BID		close down, dismiss (usually for economic reasons)
(c)	BLAST		conflict, disagree(ment), fight, fighting

Abbreviations

Abbreviations are a common part of language. We use many of them in spoken English, pronouncing them either as initials (BBC, EU, FBI) or sometimes as complete words in themselves (NATO, OPEC). Some abbreviations are used only in the written form (Bros. St. Esq) and other abbreviations represent the original Latin or occasionally French or Italian words and are spoken quite differently from their written form (Ib. oz).

1 Put each of the following abbreviations in its correct place in the sentences below. The full version of each abbreviation is given at the end of the exercise.

Word Games

- 1 Make as many words as you can from Great Britain. Each letter can be used only one in each new word. Words must contain four letters or more. No proper nouns are allowed. Then try again with accidental and unfortunately.
- 2 How many pairs of words can you make which are the reverse of each other in spelling? e.g. raw-war, part-trap
- 3 Make words from each of the following combinations of letters, using the letters in the same order.
  - e.g. TRR straighter, terrible LPD - slipped, limped CTN SLR LWR BNS EVS FTN OLG
- 4 In a word square, like those below, the words read the same left to right and top to bottom. Can you make your own 9 or 16-letter square?

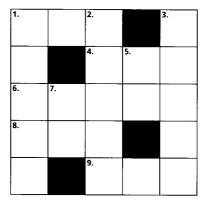

F	Α	T
Α	I	R
T	R	Υ

С	0	М	Е
0	٧	Α	L
М	Α	S	S
Ε	L	S	Е

5 Rearrange the letters in the words on the right to form examples of the categories given in brackets,

e.g. animal shore Answer: horse occupations treprance rotac yerwal roflabotle mailponce drooct creathe olicipiant countries gratanine imblegu geraila dannawezel odaninise vilabio danngle acoshifarut clothing wendaurer wastree acration volerulp octavero souble rortessu caktej

You can probably find crosswords to do, but can you make up your own from this?

CLUES	_

9	7

For each word below give another which has a different spelling and meaning but exactly the same pronunciation.

e.g. road – rode

patience - patients

mist break bear siaht

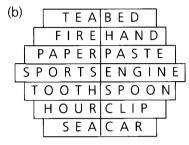

size isle

weak pain

see saw flower prints

8 Rearrange the nonsense compound nouns in each group below so that they make seven real compound nouns.

From each word below make a completely new word (no plurals or past 9 tenses) by adding one letter.

e.g. red - read

ill – will man – many

bee car low sick right he

back ear eat

care end were

mile hot wear

plan cat net

10 In each of the following sentences one letter has been omitted throughout. Put it back and make the original sentence.

e.g. MBOSPLAWITHTOSEVERDA
